Domaine Chataigneraie-Laborier, Gilles Morat, Aux Vignes Dessus, Pouilly-Fuissé 17.75 (92)

Gilles Morat took over part of the family domaine in 1997 and has since been buying up small plots on great terroirs around Vergisson in Mâcon. Today he has 17 parcels totalling 6ha. This is a charming wine of purity and elegance. Minerality is at the fore with lime and leaf characters, real depth and leesy notes on the palate and a fresh finish. Stocks are low, so snap this up. Drink 2016-2020

Chanterêves, Guillaume and Tomoko, St-Romain 17.5 (91)

This is the fourth vintage from Tomoko and Guillaume Boot, who trained as oenologists in Rheingau and Beaune respectively. Neither owns vines so they work closely with growers, buying them vinifying grapes in their new chai in Savigny-lès-Beaune. Subtle and elegant nose of limes and minerality. Nice tension on the palate with crisp acidity and round white fruit. Fine depth and precision. Definitely a name to watch. Drink 2016-2020

Domaine Agnès Paquet, Auxey-Duresses 17 (90)

To maintain the family's wine heritage, Agnès Paquet changed career direction after university and started studying winemaking before taking over the family domaine; her first vintage was 2001. This wine is from a 2.8ha parcel old vines averaging 85 years old. It has lovely aromas of lemon and fresh apple, leading to a steely with crunchy apple fruit, a nice creamy texture and well-integrated oak. It's very enjoyable now. Drink 2015-2018
